

Paladin

Wilson Sonsini Expands Its Leadership in Innovation to Pro Bono

Key Wins:

- Engagement: Pro bono hours have increased by 35% since March 2018
- Time Saved: Estimated 80+ hours of administrative time saved per year, freeing up resources for higher leverage work
- Innovation Leadership: Presented at College of Law Practice Management Future's Conference, coverage in LawSites
- Practice Leadership: Recognized by Casa Cornelia as the Pro Bono Law Firm of the Year in 2019. In 2020, named Law Firm of the Year from the AIDS Legal Referral Panel and acknowledged by the Lawyers Committee of Civil Rights for outstanding pro bono partnership, including ground-breaking virtual assistance of clients preyed upon by bail bond companies during the pandemic. Recently pledged a \$15 million increase in value of pro bono services dedicated to racial justice/civil rights.

Background:

Wilson Sonsini is a global player with deep tech roots and a strong dedication to pro bono work. Their pro bono leadership identified Paladin as a unique technology that would complement its forward-thinking solution set while scaling pro bono across markets. Since implementing Paladin, the firm has onboarded numerous new legal services partners to expand its offerings. In addition, Wilson Sonsini's leadership credits Paladin for a substantial assist in increasing overall pro bono engagement by about 35% since 2018, and for creating a dynamic one-stop shop for the team to visualize and realize opportunities in various regions and practice areas.

From the Firm:

"Paladin is a great example of where the law is going. As one of the first firms to work with Paladin, we wanted to accelerate our pro bono efforts by digitizing the way these matters are administered. Paladin has exceeded our expectations in helping us maximize the impact of our access to justice efforts."

— David Wang, Chief Innovation Officer

"We started working with Paladin about two years ago, and I have consistently been impressed and thankful for the partnership. Not only the tech and platform and how that evolves, but also the overall positive energy and work ethic displayed by the team. They are proactive, nimble and candid, all qualities we appreciate and relate to. And especially as someone who both helps run the admin side of our pro bono program as well as loves to actively practice for both our corporate and pro bono clients, the time saved alone via Paladin has a very direct impact. I'm excited to see what we can do to continue to increase access to justice and great pro bono opportunities for our folks."

— Luke Liss, Senior Counsel and Pro Bono Counsel

WILSON SONSINI

NUMBER OF LAWYERS

~850

LIVE OPPORTUNITIES

~280

PARTICIPATING OFFICES

Austin
Boston
Los Angeles
New York
Palo Alto
San Diego
San Francisco
Seattle
Washington, DC
Wilmington